

WINTER 2020 SEMINAR

Food Systems in the Age of Climate Change

Guggenheim Hall 220 | Tuesdays 12:30 - 1:20 p.m. | Instructor: Yona Sipos

Jan 7	Food Systems in the Age of Climate Change: Mitigation, Adaptation, and Resilience Jeremy Hess, Environmental and Occupational Health Sciences, Global Health, Emergency Medicine, Schools of Public Health and Medicine at UW and Director of CHanGE at UW
Jan 14	Oceans and Climate: Mitigating Impacts on our Aquatic Food Systems Jan Newton, Washington Ocean Acidification Center, College of the Environment, UW
Jan 21	From the Ground Up: Climate Impacts of and on Soils Brittany Johnson, Environmental and Forest Sciences, UW Sarah Collier, Nutritional Sciences Program and Environmental & Occupational Health Sciences, UW
Jan 28	Ecological Life Support Systems: Climate Change and Natural Resources Tania M. Busch Isaksen, Environmental & Occupational Health Sciences, UW Nicole Errett, Environmental & Occupational Health Sciences, UW Amy Kim, Civil & Environmental Engineering, UW Erin Horn, PhD Student, Civil & Environmental Engineering, UW
Feb 4	Labor and Climate: Climate-Related Occupational Impacts on Agricultural Workers Maria Blancas, Outreach and Education Specialist, PNASH Center and PhD Candidate, Environmental and Forest Sciences, UW June Spector, Environmental & Occupational Health Sciences, UW
Feb 11	Sustaining Indigenous Foods on Treaty Lands: A Co-Management Approach on the Mt. Baker-Snoqualmie National Forest Libby Halpin Nelson, Senior Environmental Policy Analyst, Tulalip Tribes Treaty Rights Office and Ryan Miller, Manager, Tulalip Tribes Treaty Rights Office, with Holly Zox, Botanist (Contractor, Tulalip Tribes), and Harriet Morgan, Climate Impacts Group, UW
Feb 18	Growing for Change: Agricultural Adaptations for Urban to Rural Systems David Montgomery, Earth and Space Sciences, UW Julie Johnson, Landscape Architecture, UW Yolimar Rivera Vázquez, Food & Farms Coordinator, Ecotrust
Feb 25	Closing the Loop: Regenerative Animal Agriculture and Meat Livestock farmer panel co-hosted with WSU Food Systems Moderated by Nicole Witham, Assistant Director, WSU Food Systems
Mar 3	Food on Campus: UW Sustainability Plans and Initiatives Claudia Frere-Anderson, Director, UW Sustainability
Mar 10	What's Your Plan? Strategies for Food Systems In the Age of Climate Change Yona Sipos, Nutritional Sciences Program and Environmental & Occupational Health Sciences, UW

The University of Washington acknowledges the Coast Salish peoples of this land, the land which touches the shared waters of all tribes and bands within the Suquamish, Tulalip, Muckleshoot nations and the Dkhw'Duw'Absh, the Duwamish Tribe.

All UW students, faculty and staff welcome.

Co-hosted with

CHanGE

Center for Health and the Global Environment